Empathy Map Canvas:

Says

What have we heard them say?
What can we imagine them saying?

I have hundreds of business cards in a drawer I never look at.

"I can never remember where I met this person or what we talked about

"I need to find all my developer contacts quickly — I wish I could just filter by a tag.

I meant to follow up last week but I forgot who gave me their card

Thinks

What are their wants, needs, hopes, and dreams?
What other thoughts might influence their behavior?

Which contacts should I reach out to for my new freelance project?

I hope I don't embarrass myself by forgetting someone's name at the next event.

There must be a smarter way to organise this without paying $50/month for Salesforce.

I wish I could tag contacts like social media — Work, Investor, Designer, Friend.

Does

What behavior have we observed?
What can we imagine them doing?

Keeps a messy mix of contacts across their phone, email, and random sticky notes.

Manually types contact info into a phone right after meeting someone at an event.

Scrolls through entire contact list to find someone instead of using search.

Uses LinkedIn as a contact book — but forgets to write down conversation context.

Feels

What are their fears, frustrations, and anxieties?
What other feelings might influence their behavior?

Overwhelmed — too many contacts scattered across too many places with no system.

Embarrassed — forgot a contact's name or details at an important moment.

Anxious — afraid of missing a follow-up opportunity that could have led to a deal.

Frustrated — can't find a contact quickly when on a call and under pressure.
